SYNDICATE IS TRYING TO PURCHASE ALL OF MR. STRATTON'S COLORADO SPRINGS PROPERTY

...ty in Colorado is attracting ...enter the attention of capital that Colorado Springs is Not ... the ... of dollars belong ... in ... this ... city but ... of the exceptional opport... offered for making this a great ... city as well as the ... residence and ... city ... limited coal supply at the city ... with the climate ... which ... here ... it is not strange that men with ... should ... to invest in Colorado Springs property and Colorado Springs enterprises. The street railway system of this city has long been an object of interest to capitalists ... that with ... resorts as this city ... Broadmoor ... all seasons and with the ... living to enjoy the balmy ... of this Italian climate by going from one place to another ... there is no limit to the ... service. It is not strange therefore that capitalists have been ... in their efforts to get control of the rapid transit line of this city. They tried before the sale to Mr Stratton and since that time they have but redoubled their effort.

The syndicate of local and eastern capitalists which has been arranging to buy the Pueblo rapid transit lines and ... of this city is not content ... to purchase the street railways. They now wish to purchase all of the valuable real estate owned by Mr Stratton in this city.

They know that this city has just begun to grow and that in 10 years it will have a permanent population of at least ... and a ... of at least ... and that all business property will more than quadruple in value and return a handsome income on the investment in the meantime. All of Mr Stratton's property in this city has been selected with rare good judgment and splendid business foresight and these shrewd buyers are now trying to get all of ... just as hard as they are trying to get his street railway line.

One report is that an absolute option has been obtained from Mr Stratton upon all of his property including the street railways and that a sale of the property will take place in the near future. Another report is that only the street railway has been included in the option although the syndicate tried very hard to get an option upon the real estate. Certain it is that diligent efforts are being made to secure all of the property.

No direct information can be positively obtained from the parties themselves but from reliable business sources the Gazette has been informed that negotiations of the kind outlined are pending and that in all probability an option of some kind has been given.

The people of Colorado Springs would dislike very much to have Mr Stratton part with any of his interests in this city as they feel that his ... did ... in his business affairs is worth more to the city than many millions of outside capital would be and the people have a genuine affection for the man aside from his wealth and every person would like to see him more largely interested in the city rather than less interested and especially in such property and enterprise as promise large returns to himself.

EXPLOIT OF PIKE TO BE COMMEMORATED

... Island, Kas, July 4.—The corner stone of the proposed monument to mark the spot where the American flag was first raised over territory of Kansas was laid today. The flag was raised by Zebulon Pike then a lieutenant of the American army September 29, 1806 and on the anniversary of that day this year the monument begun today will be formally unveiled.

The ceremonies today were under the auspices of the Kansas State Historical society which is charged with the care of the ground upon which the monument is to stand where once was the capital village of the ... Pawnee republic. Marks of this village still exist and in ... years have been preserved by Elizabeth A Johnson the wife of ... who lives on the adjoining quarter section. Mrs Johnson ... the land by purchase and deeded it to the state. The state ... appropriated $... 000 to fence and mark the historic spot and today ... work was begun. The ground consists of eight acres and it is the intention to ultimately transform it into a public park.

Pike's exploit was a daring one. In 180... he started with 20 men ... the newly acquired Louisiana purchase just after ... Lieut ... Malgares at the head of a detachment of Spanish soldiers ... persuaded the Pawnees to swear allegiance to Spain and to run a Spanish flag over their village which then constituted the most powerful Indian government on the plains. Pike demanded of the ... that the Spanish flag be hauled down and the American colors substituted representing that his party of 20 was simply the advance guard of a large army. The chief told the Indians that to refuse ... demand would mean a hard fight and they finally relented.

THE STRIKERS MUST VACATE

Troops Will Be Sent to Telluride Tonight If Strikers Do Not Give Up the Mine to Owners.

Special to the Gazette

Ouray July 4.—Word came to this city yesterday that 12 men were killed at the Smuggler mine in a fight between the striking union miners and the nonunion men. The report created great excitement as the town was rapidly filling up with miners preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July. Many of them threatened to go to Telluride to take a hand in the fight.

About dusk two bands of imported miners were seen crossing the Ridge ... of the Telluride divide and entering Imogene basin. They ... to shy off from the Camp Bird mine knowing that it was a strong union camp and they hugged the mountains to the east. When four of the Camp Bird miners approached a party of 1... of the fleeing miners they made a wild rush for the woods and would not permit the Camp Bird men to come up to them. The fleeing miners who had left their dead behind and who ... wounded were struggling along on the rough trails were in no humor for another fight.

A member of the first party said that a dozen of their men had been killed while the next band did not claim more than five. Two of these men bore marks of the enemy's ... one ... in the mouth ... the other was shot through the left hand. They gave all kinds of accounts of the Smuggler riot. One said that Superintendent Collins came up to the mine in the morning and that his presence was to the striking miners like a red flag to a mad bull. Collins is said to have had a very narrow escape. The skirmishing began at four o'clock and was kept up until noon. At times there was only an occasional gunshot while at other times the firing resembled the discharge of a package of cannon crackers. There were about 100 strikers armed with rifles lodged in the trees above the Smuggler workings and they kept up an almost incessant fire while the imported miners were kept busy dodging the bullets seeking shelter in and about the buildings. Most of the imported miners were working on top fearing to enter the mine lest the striking miners should carry out their threat of blowing up the mine. The few guards who were protecting the mine by noon saw their case was hopeless as the strikers were getting reinforcements all the time. They ceased firing altogether and hung up the white flag. This led to the final capture of the ... the working miners being made prisoners. The most trying time to the imported miners was that of being driven over the range subjected to the jeers and ... of their captors.

A miner who was marched across the range tells this story of yesterday's battle:

The office clock he said stopped at exactly 1... minutes to five in the morning. The clock dial had been pierced by the bullet. The office seemed to be the objective point of the attack ... The attacking party kept up incessant fire until noon. Charles Becker when in the tram room was shot in the arm the bullet passing downward striking the stove where it exploded. George Nicholson was shot through the back of the neck the bullet passing through his cheek. A Mexican working on Sheridan dump was shot in his tracks. A striker came up to him and pushed his gun to his abdomen and fired. The Mexican fell over dead. The reason the strikers attacked us so early was to get us when we were in bed as they did the men at Sheridan camp. Nine out of 10 of the men who fought us were Italians. There were no less than ... of the strikers and most of them carried rifles.

At noon the firing ceased and we were led to believe that there would be a three days' armistice to give us time to care for the wounded. Just as we were about to settle down the entire force came in upon us and made us prisoners. They divided us into three gangs and marched us to the Tomboy mine. They had rifles to say nothing of those who carried clubs and pistols. As we scrambled up the steep trail they kept shooting over our heads and calling us all kinds of vile names. We never resented this brutal treatment for to do so meant instant death.

A union miner when his attention was called to the above version of the fight ridiculed it saying most emphatically that the union men were not Italians but Americans. The man shot was not a Mexican but a Finlander. It is all ... that a union man poked his gun in the man's stomach ... the same as others ... the riot. The attacking party acted as fairly as any men ever did in the heat and excitement of a ...

Mr Sacket superintendent of the tramway while riding up to the Smuggler had his horse shot from under him.

About 30 men from Telluride came over to Ouray last night and 20 took the train out and are supposed to be the men who shot at the non-union men. A number of men who were wounded were left on the range above the Camp Bird and Manager Benson sent a force ... to bring them down to the hospital.

STORY OF THE CAPTURE OF THE SMUGGLER MINE

Special to the Gazette

Denver, July 4.—Lieutenant Governor D C Coates of Pueblo Judge Theron Stevens of Ouray and John Murphy of Denver left this city at 9 ... this evening at the instigation of Governor Orman to proceed to Telluride with a view of inducing the striking miners to peacefully vacate the property of the Smuggler Union company. If the miners refuse to surrender possession of the property in all probability the troops will be sent to Telluride to take possession of the mine tomorrow night. The three men who are to attempt to obtain a peaceful settlement will arrive at the scene of the trouble tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. They have in their possession a copy of the following telegram which was sent to Arthur I Collins manager of the company, this evening:

Denver Colo July 4 1901

Arthur I Collins Manager Smuggler-Union Mining Co Telluride Colo

"Unlawful possession of property will not be tolerated in this state and if property is not immediately surrendered to rightful owners immediate action will be taken by state authority and all parties implicated severely dealt with. Sheriff has not been denied troops.

James B Orman Governor

The telegram was sent in answer to one received earlier in the day from Mr Collins as follows:

Telluride, Colo July 4 1901

James B. Orman, Governor of Colorado

Unprovoked attack made upon our property Wednesday morning by several hundred armed masked men. Valuable property destroyed. Two men killed several severely wounded. Rest driven across the range. Desperadoes now have forcible possession. Sheriff says he is powerless to give us possession of our property or to protect lives of our employes and has called for troops which were denied. Without this protection property must be indefinitely abandoned. Will you telegraph me advice and furnish us protection?

The Smuggler Union Company,

Arthur I Collins Mgr

This message placed the governor in another quandary. Some one is mistaken said Governor Orman. The troops have not been denied the sheriff nor will they be. If he will only answer my telegram telling me the true condition at present it will be remembered that Senator Buckley wired that troops were not needed while the sheriff says they are needed. It is hoped that when the miners see the message and understand that Governor Orman intends to carry out his statements they will give up their possession of the property. The governor received the following telegram from Senator Buckley this evening:

Telluride Colo July 4 1901

James B Orman Governor

Situation unchanged. Miners have peaceful possession of mine. Manager Collins here. Life not in danger.

W S Buckley

Lieutenant Governor Coates is quoted as saying "The whole trouble was started by a fool deputy sheriff. He fired a shot and wounded a miner and that naturally caused the other miners to assert themselves. If these deputies and their ready guns could be kept out of the road in such emergencies these little difficulties between labor and capital would invariably end peacefully."

The expense to the state if the entire National guard should be sent to Telluride and held there for three or four weeks would exceed the cost of any former insurrection which has been in the state. At the present time the state is paying interest on a large number of bonds issued to cover the expenses of other strikes and insurrections.

While no troops have been ordered out Adjutant General Gardner has notified the commanding officers of all companies to have their men ready to mobilize at a moment's notice. In many cases this was taken as an order to mobilize and the troops were gathered at the several armories throughout the state. At noon today it was stated that 1,000 troops were under arms ready to move at a moment's notice.

TRAIN ROBBER WILL PROBABLY BE CAPTURED

Great Falls Mont July 4.—The three men who held up the Great Northern transcontinental west bound express near Wagner ... miles west yesterday probably will be captured before morning. Sheriff Griffith with a posse of 20 men has surrounded them at Buck Allen's ranch 40 miles south of Wagner near the edge of the old Fort Belknap reservation on the west fork of the Houchette river.

The posse followed the bandits all yesterday afternoon finding signs of them at a ford on Beaver creek and again where they crossed the dry fork.

Information that reached here late today is that the posse came in sight of the men about 3 o'clock today near the ranch and driving them in surrounded them. It is probable that they will not be captured until after a severe fight and at the latest advices Sheriff Griffith had not made the attack.

The bandits are thought to be housed in the ranch buildings which offered every protection for a siege. The posse may not try to force their capture until reinforcements are received. It is understood that another posse from south of the Missouri in the direction of Fort Hawley, will join Sheriff Griffith at Allen's ranch. The sheriff's posse have not yet obtained descriptions of the men although Sheriff Griffith was a passenger upon the train that was robbed and saw the men escape across the plains on their horses. The gang were identified today by their horses and when observed through field glasses the white ... and buckskin on which they were mounted after the robbery were plainly seen.

Contrary to first reports the men are not experienced train robbers. Information from Wagner and nearby points is that they have been partially identified as cow punchers employed on a ranch lying south of the Milk river. One is a half breed as was thought at the time of the robbery. He is known to be the man who boarded the express east of Wagner and forced the engineer and fireman to bring it to a stop at the head of the ravine in which his confederates were hidden.

The authorities have been unable to clearly identify the robbers but it is now thought that with the information obtained their previous records can easily be ascertained.

The work of tracking was extremely difficult owing to the nature of the bad lands broken throughout by foothills and the eastern end of the little Rocky range. Across the line of the Fort Belknap reservation ... distant there are excellent hiding places and it is thought that if the bandits should evade capture tonight and once get in this ground it would be almost impossible to find them.

Information received here from Havre is that neither Traveling Auditor Douglass of Clancey Mont or Brakeman Whitesides was hit in the fusillade from the bandits at the time of the robbery.

Gertrude Smith of Tomah Wis a passenger in the tourist car who was shot in the arm was immediately attended by a surgeon who found that she had sustained nothing more serious than a flesh wound. This was treated and bandaged and she continued her journey in company with her aunt to Seattle. It is probable that the first estimate of the loss $5... 000 is somewhat excessive. Reliable information received today is that $... 000 was secured and that this with the damage to through express shipments resulting from the explosion in the car will represent the entire loss of the company. No information concerning the consignees of the money in the through safe is obtainable. It is understood that a considerable part was in the shape of the shipments for the Chicago banks and other institutions.

FINE SPORT AT THE GILLETT RACES

Special to the Gazette

Gillett July 4.—There was fine sport at the races given by the Gillett Driving association this afternoon at Sportsman's park. Fully 2,500 people journeyed to the Bull Fight City to witness the first day's racing and none left the park but who were satisfied with the afternoon's program. The track was very heavy but notwithstanding this fact good time was made in the majority of the events. Dr Stone of Iowa made a good starter and but little time was lost in getting the horses away from the pole. Favorites met with fair success except in the fourth heat of the first race when Pearl S an 8 to 1 shot crossed the wire first. The talent was rather skittish but in the running races the books did a good business.

The first race, a one half mile pace brought four entries to the pole. Five heats were required to complete this race. John R John R Hancock's brown gelding won the purse. J Maurice Finn's Pearl S took second money and made the best time in this event.

The second race a one-half mile run for a purse of $150 was won by Bettie B in 51½ seconds. Big Dutch was second and Virgin D third.

The third race a one-quarter mile run for a purse of $150 was won by Joe D in 24 seconds. Joe Bush was second and Sweetheart third.

The fourth race a half mile run for two-year-olds was won by Stella Perkins a 2 to 1 shot. The time in this event was 5... seconds. Angelo took second place and the Belle of Natchez third.

Sir Kenneth an 8 to 1 shot captured the fifth race a one mile running event for a purse of $150. Chlorea the 3 to ... favorite met with an accident, suffering an injury of the leg and was distanced. July Gyp took second money and Viola K third. In this race Jockey Scrip suffered a fracture of the left leg by being thrown against the fence by Morben his mount. The time for the mile was 1 52½.

The races will continue every afternoon until Monday July 8. On Saturday and Sunday the last two days of the meet there will be coursing in addition to the regular race program.

THE FOURTH IN THE CLOUD CITY

Special to the Gazette

Leadville July 4.—The three days Fourth of July celebration was ushered in this morning with a great burst of patriotism. The weather all day was ideal. At 10 ... the large civic, military and trades parade moved under the direction of J H Clegg marshal of the day and was a fine success the beautiful floats being a feature of the parade. John ... delivered the oration of the day to a vast audience. Then the long program of sports commenced consisting of bicycle racing and horse racing.

Some very attractive prizes hung up by the committee have caused some of the best talent among the hammersmen of Colorado to enter in the fifteen minute drilling contest, which takes place on the 5th.

The 6,000 of Leadville's miners and smelter men are taking a three days holiday and an immense crowd of visitors are here from adjoining towns.

The Knights of St John, Leadville's crack military organization under Capt J J Cahill was cheered to the depot amid great applause. This company will participate in the competitive drill at Victor.

THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS STOLEN FROM BRANCH MINT

San Francisco July 4.—Concerning the report published yesterday that a shortage had been discovered in the San Francisco branch mint the Chronicle today says:

Six bags of gold each containing $5,000 in $20 gold pieces have disappeared from the mint as though spirited away by magic. No trace of the thief has been discovered though Superintendent Leach and his force assisted by Director of the Mint Roberts and his staff of experts have been at work on the mystery since Saturday noon June 29 when the shortage was discovered. At first it was supposed that there was an error in the books or in counting the bags but it was soon found that the money had been stolen.

The annual count of the coin was begun last Friday morning. The mint officials to assist in the work and anxious to have everything correct went over the money and accounts just ahead of the examiners and during the luncheon hour Saturday discovered that six bags were missing from the $2... 000 in gold in the cashier's vault. Superintendent Leach was at once informed and he notified Director Roberts of the shortage. The books were gone over at once in the expectation of finding an error, but it was found that the cashier's books balanced with those of other departments and called for the $30,000 that was missing. The officials were then forced to the conclusion that somebody acquainted with the inside affairs of the mint had taken the money.

Director of the Mint George E Roberts of Washington D C, made the following statement:

"We have been very reluctant to conclude that a shortage exists. We have fought against the belief that there is anything wrong but after three days work in checking calculations and going over the count we have still to face the situation of $30,000 less in coin than the books call for.

There appears to be no escape from the conclusion that some one or more persons employed in the mint has been faithless to the trust reposed in him or them. Thirty thousand dollars in gold was not taken at a grab. It was not taken by an outsider but by some one who was able to enter the vault. Only one man was supposed to have the combination to the lock and that was the cashier but possibly others did have it. ... possibility of error in what was charged to the cashier, for his own books agree with the other departments but there is a possibility of an overpayment to a depositor. It is improbable however that so large an overpayment could be made.

Both Superintendent Leach and Director Dimmick declared that suspicion could not point to Cashier Cole since his books were in perfect condition and called for the amount that had been stolen.

DEUTSCHLAND BROUGHT PROMINENT PASSENGERS

New York July 4.—Pierre Lorillard who was a passenger on board the steamer Deutschland arriving here today from Hamburg Southampton and Cherbourg was very ill with nephritis throughout the passage. His friends fear that he may not recover.

Others of the Deutschland's passengers were J Pierpont Morgan, W C Whitney Jr W K Vanderbilt Jr, and Mrs Vanderbilt of New York and P A B Widener W L Elkins and Clement Griscom of Philadelphia, Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister to Washington, Raphael Joseffy, the musician and Dr James H Wormann United States consul at Munich Bavaria.

A big fleet of private yachts and a number of tugs went down the bay to meet her at quarantine but few of them got alongside. There was some delay about docking the ship as the Fuerst Bismarck off for Europe with a big list of passengers was slow about leaving the berth. A tremendous crowd awaited the ship and her passengers aboard and it took double lines of policemen and customs officers supported by dock laborers to keep the crowd back.

J P Morgan was not disposed to discuss any of the great industrial deals which he is planning and financing.

"I never talk about my business deals until they are completed" he said "and then I say very little. I cannot tell you anything about the threatened strike of the steel workers. The principal events concerning it occurred while I was at sea and I am not a mind reader. I have to inquire about things just as any one else. I cannot tell you anything about the Northern Pacific or the railroad situation. The fact is I don't know what the situation is. You see I have been away. I cannot say anything about the Leyland line. I am going home today but will be at my office tomorrow."

A little later Mr Morgan left on the Corsair for his summer home at Highland Falls.

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Denver, July 4—The Fourth was cel[illegible] [illegible] with the same man[illegible] as characterizes all such days. There were plenty [illegible] concerts [illegible] visiting fire crackers [illegible] noise [illegible] [illegible] patriotism [illegible] all other pleasures that go to mak[illegible] the day so sacred to the hearts of the American people. The morning opened clear and warm and large numbers [illegible] themselves away to the mountains or other camping grounds for a breath of fresh air while others were content to enjoy the same pleasure in some of the many parks of the city. Those who [illegible] less fortunate [illegible] to stay in town contented themselves by throwing fire works [illegible] carriages and cars of their [illegible] friends and enjoyed the screaming and gathering of skirts which always follows. In the afternoon a band concert and [illegible] quiet program [illegible] was the attraction at the city park and many who attended them carried [illegible] filled [illegible] and also spent the evening there. At night all the [illegible] resorts in the city entertained their guests with fire works or other patriotic programs. The [illegible] has been one of the noisiest that has been held in Denver in years. It seemed as though every person in Arapahoe county was trying to make more racket than his neighbor. The result is that the streets are covered with [illegible] fire works and many of the [illegible] are [illegible] blistering [illegible] of the injured members of some [illegible] families. There [illegible] serious [illegible] reported but the police register [illegible] an entire page of reports of [illegible] wounded legs [illegible] [illegible]

OUR DEATHLESS DEAD

A Tribute to Those Who Have Died for Old Glory

Will strew of laurel and the stately [illegible] made?
Will blaze of banners [illegible] over [illegible] head
[illegible] the [illegible] league [illegible]
They will not have this [illegible]

As they [illegible] this will consecrate

How shall we honor them—our deathless dead?
How keep their mighty memories [illegible]

THE STATE WARRANTS.

AMENT the recent payment of $89,000 by Treasurer Chipley to redeem state warrants of doubtful validity, the Denver News publishes the following interesting story

Some history in which the warrants figure will serve as a fitting background for a story vouched for by one who claims to know—a story of the first serious attempt made to induce a state treasurer to pay and take up these warrants

After the warrants had been issued before any question had been raised as to their validity State Treasurer Breen and Brisbane acting as they believed within the scope of their authority bought several hundred thousands of them as state investments with school funds and money belonging to the Agricultural college State university internal improvement fund and other state institutions About this time General Maupin then attorney general expressed serious doubts as to the validity of the warrants giving as reasons grounds which the supreme court later concurred in The opinion of General Maupin alarmed State Treasurer Brisbane who fearing for his bondsmen should the courts hold the warrants illegal stirred himself and through bond and warrant brokers succeeded in selling the warrants to private concerns which believing them to be good investments for the interest, six per cent purchased them practically at par Brisbane in the first instance had bought them for the different state funds for the interest they drew His desire being that the surplus funds to the credit of the different institutions should be earning interest. Of course if he had made a mistake—the state funds being used by him to purchase void warrants both he and his bondsmen would be liable to the state for unlawful appropriation of state moneys. It was this liability which Treasurer Brisbane avoided by selling the warrants to private institutions and covering the cash received for them back into the treasury This feat was accomplished before the views of Attorney General Maupin had become public It probably could not have been made to win after they were made public

With the public crediting of the warrants the holders became uneasy and when not long afterward the supreme court decided that all payments issued in excess of the actual revenues of each year were void the holders felt that their investments were dead losses for it was accepted that the warrants thus sold were excess warrants and therefore void

Albert Nance was elected state treasurer in 1892 Preceding treasurers had transferred some of the funds of subsequent years to the funds credited to the years 1889 90 for the purpose of meeting excess warrants of those years The decision of the supreme court declaring that it was unlawful to do this while it did not disturb the fund thus augmented for the years 1889 90 stopped the use of them for the payment of the excess warrants and stopped the augmentation of the fund When Nance became treasurer this 1889 90 fund amounted to about $200,000. The fund was tied up so the treasurers held, but outside parties set them elves at work to induce state treasurers to take a different view of the matter and use them to pay these outstanding but discredited warrants

The first genuinely earnest effort to do this was toward the last of Treasurer Nance's term in 1894 Several important business and political factors undertook the task Albert Nance was approached by these gentlemen and urged to recognize the warrants and pay them out of the 1889 90 funds on hand as far as they would suffice But Treasurer Nance declined to yield to the arguments these gentlemen brought to bear upon him He stood as firm as adamant

How to move Treasurer Nance then became the question

They knew that Mr Nance and Governor Thomas—Thomas had not then been elected governor—were warm personal friends that Governor Thomas was one of the sponsors on Mr Nance's bond and that Mr Nance had unlimited confidence in Governor Thomas ability as a lawyer If we can get an opinion from Governor Thomas affirming the validity of the bonds they reasoned that will surely influence Nance to pay them A M Stevenson and possibly some of the others saw the governor and engaged him to write an opinion if he found the law was in accordance with their views Governor Thomas fixed the price for the opinion at $1,000 to be paid if it was rendered the governor not to render it unless he could decide the law to be as Stevenson et al contended Governor Thomas turned the examination of the law and writing of the opinion over to Charley Hartzell who was then of the governor's firm. At the time the opinion was delivered, it is stated Mr Stevenson and his party They paid down $250 of the $1,000 and moved triumphantly upon Treasurer Nance, having no doubt that the Thomas artillery would bring down their game

But Treasurer Nance could not be moved He stated in substance that highly as he regarded Mr Thomas as a friend and a lawyer, he could not regarding his duty as he did take up the warrants.

With this failure the contracting parties for the Thomas opinion did not feel that they should be required to pay the rest of the $1,000, and they did not pay it until the governor's firm notified the gentlemen that it was either pay or be sued Then the balance of the fee was paid

It may be of interest to know that it was the same identical opinion given by Governor Thomas' firm that has lately figured in the Chipley transaction It is that opinion, with others which Treasurer Chipley relies upon to justify his recent action

Ever since that occasion—seven years ago—the eyes of the speculators have rested greedily upon the 1889 90 fund After the Nance episode a succeeding state treasurer paid out about $100 000 of the fund for certain of the warrants under order of the supreme court which left behind the $89 000 disposed of by Treasurer Chipley

THE BROOKSIDE WATER PROPOSITION.

THE practically unanimous sentiment of the people of Colorado Springs is in favor of a larger water supply and the belief is almost universal that the city should acquire all the available water of the Pikes Peak watershed

But this unanimity upon the general subject does not seem to help matters much when it comes to the consideration of any particular proposition In such a case the details assume a greater prominence than the general aspect and there are always plenty of persons to say that the price is too high or that another proposition is preferable

The fact of the matter is that the general public is not competent to judge of such matters The value of a water proposition is something that can be determined only by experts and the city councilmen should rely upon their own good judgment and that of unprejudiced experts whom they may consult rather than upon the talk of those whose opinion may be prejudiced or based upon insufficient knowledge.

In the case of the Brookside proposition the city is asked to pay $20 000 for certain water rights ditches pipe lines reservoir sites etc It is in fact an established water system now in operation with certain capacities for extension and enlargement and it is now serving the residents of the valley of Cheyenne creek from the canon to Ivywild The water rights offered to the city include practically all the water of this stream not held by the Broadmoor company—a most important exception These are

No	Share	Amount
1	0 5	8 in by 76 in
2	all	12 in by 18 in
3	0 5	4 in by 76 in
4	all	12 in by 25 in
5	4 15	12 in by 24 in
6	all	24 in by 24 in
8	all	2 feet

It will be seen that the Brookside company has only 15 20 of water right No 1 which is a together for the water running through a headgate 8 inches by 36 inches in dimensions while nearly all of the remainder of this water right is owned by the Broadmoor company The Brookside company owns all of No 2 and the same portion of No 3 as of No 1 the latter being an enlargement to the earlier number No 4 is owned entirely by the Brookside people but they have only a little more than a quarter of No 5 No 6 belongs to Brookside entirely No 7 is owned by Broadmoor and No 8 belongs to Brookside

The Brookside company undoubtedly has valuable water rights on Cheyenne creek and for a good deal of the year the acquisition of this system would bring a large amount of additional water to the city system In exceptionally dry seasons however the creek is not of sufficient volume to furnish the water for all the old rights and the later priorities are valueless as regards the running stream The Brookside property however includes a reservoir site of 40 acres located near the Foster ranch which is intended for storing water in connection with this system

In addition to what has been specified the Brookside company also owns pipe lines laterals settlers taps tools and other personal property and material said to be of a value of $ ...

These are the main facts of the proposition and they should be carefully considered The city is desirous of getting more water and there is no doubt that the Brookside company has it This system would certainly be a valuable addition to the city system Whether under all the circumstances it is worth the price asked for it is something for the city council to decide It is certainly true that the water rights never will be enlarged if every proposition made to the city is to be turned down when ever any person objects to it

If the councilmen find after careful examination that the price is a fair one they should take up the option the now hold and public opinion will approve their action

It is a good idea to make the Women's congress a prominent part of the Quarto centennial program In no state does woman take a more prominent and acceptable part in public affairs than in Colorado and one of the things we celebrate at this time is the success of the broad and liberal policy that admits woman to an equal rank in influencing the life and destiny of the state

The only medal of the Quarto-centennial worth having or wearing is the official one prepared and sold by the Quarto centennial association This will be an object of art and will increase in value as the years go on and be at all times a pleasing reminder of the celebration while the cheap and tawdry medals prepared by speculators for their own gain will have no real value at any time

FROM THE PRESS OF THE NATION.

The Treasury Surplus

(Boston Transcript)

The United States treasury will start the fiscal year of 1901 2 which begins July 1 with a larger surplus than it has had since 1890 For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900 the surplus was $ 9... For the year just about to end ... an even larger surplus is already assured as the excess of receipts over expenditures up to last Saturday was greater than that for the same period of the preceding year and the prospect is for a heavy addition to this excess during the current week The cash balance in the treasury will probably reach $180,000,000 by the end of the week The amount of the balance would be even larger had not Secretary Gage reduced it somewhat by the purchase of bonds As it is, however the balance is large enough to call for measures that shall prevent further excessive accumulation of money in the treasury

The changes in the internal revenue taxes which go into effect July 1 will doubtless effect some reduction of receipts But there is reason to believe that this reduction will be less than was at first predicted The increase in the classes of business on which stamp taxes are still to be imposed may be expected to offset in some measure the effects of the lowering of taxes in other directions The internal revenue receipts for the month of June show a noteworthy increase over the figures for the same month of last year If this increase of business continues at the present rate the revenue reduction contemplated by the new law may not be forthcoming At the same time moreover the ordinary expenditures necessitated by the war in the Philippines and the troubles in China will be gradually reduced and unless some unforeseen foreign complication arises the treasury will not be subjected to heavy drains during the coming year The present outlook then is for continued excess of receipts over expenditures

The prosperous condition of the treasury furnishes a strong argument for revision of the tariff schedule If the treasury were actually in need of all the revenue furnished by the present high duties the reductions which are demanded by the changed conditions of industry and trade might be opposed on fiscal grounds The financial needs of the government might then override economic interests in determining the tariff policy of the country But as it is the status of the treasury calls for a reduction of duties as unmistakably as does the business situation The revenue yielded by the tariff schedule is redundant the protection afforded is unnecessary The present time is thus peculiarly favorable for the introduction of a lower scale of duties

Missouri's Eightieth Year.

(St Louis Globe Democrat)

Missouri as a state will be 80 years of age on August 10 six weeks hence and Kansas City is making preparations to celebrate the anniversary At the time in 1821 when Missouri was admitted there was no state west of the Mississippi except Louisiana Several of the present states east of the Mississippi had not yet been created Maine was only one year old at the time while two of the five states of the old Northwest territory organized under the ordinance of 1787 had not yet been created These were Michigan admitted in 1837 and Wisconsin which was let in in 1848 Florida did not become a state until 1845 while the name of West Virginia did not appear on the roll of commonwealths until 1863 It was of course that state was merely the western section of the state of Virginia Only 23 states or about half the present number were in the Union before Missouri entered The country's population 10,000,000 in 1821 is not far from eight times that figure in 1901

Necessarily a state of Missouri's age and strategic location must have helped to make much history. Several circumstances combined to give her an ... prominence in this particular The contest over her admission was the longest in the creation of any state except in the case of Kansas It was the most exciting contest except that over which the admission of California and Kansas aroused The same issue—the slavery question—made the fight in the creation of these three states epochal The contest in the Missouri case incited by the necessity or assumed necessity of preserving the balance in the senate between the slave and the free states first put the geographical line in politics The adjustment which through Missouri's admission placed a dividing line between slave and free territory throughout the old Louisiana province preserved the peace between the sections for more than a generation and this permitted the free region to gain the preponderance in population ... which gave it the victory ... when the conflict came It was the abolition of the Missouri compact through the removal of the compromise line in the Kansas-Nebraska territorial fight in 1854 which precipitated the conflict

If Carlyle's aphorism were true that happy the people whose annals are blank in the history books then' in- ... ought Missouri to be unhappy ... It was in Missouri that Austin formed the Texas colonization plan back in the days of Spanish supremacy in Mexico which made Texas long afterward part of the United States and which through the Texas boundary controversy with Mexico added ... the United States territorial line on the southwest to the Pacific It was the Santa Fe trail opened by traders from Missouri which broke the ... against New Mexico in that war successful From Missouri too started the other trails—to Oregon Salt Lake and California—over which the early settlers to those regions passed and Missouri contributed many of those settlers It was Missouri's devotion to the union in 1861—which forced the westerly projection of the Confederate influence below the Arkansas river and thus prevented Jefferson Davis government from temporarily at least cutting the Union in two along the line of the Mississippi Missouri has helped to make a great deal of very important national history and Kansas City ought to be assisted by the entire commonwealth in its celebration of the eightieth anniversary of her entrance into the sisterhood of states

Favored Only Famous Authors

I know an editor who some years ago reasoned along these lines People say we do not read their manuscripts then why maintain this manuscript reading staff? We might as well save the money which it costs us to do the very thing which these people say we do not do And forthwith he closed the department and returned unread all manuscripts save those which came from famous authors He did exactly what the writers said he had done all long And strange to relate his periodical succeeded He ordered everything he wanted just as the writers said he had done all along and he continued doing it until he retired from his position only a short time ago He was cordially disliked by every ambitious young writer, yet he only did what he had for years been accused of doing—and never had done until he did it deliberately —(Edward Bok in The Ladies Home Journal for July

N QUAY AND THE "RIPPER" BILLS

...ator Flynn of Pennsylvania Says Corruption Is Responsible for the Seating of Quay and That It Permeates the Legislature.

Senator William Flynn, of ...ania has come to Manitou ... home in Pittsburg to rest ... long battle in the Keystone legislature against United ... Senator Quay's forces. "We used all ...ence against them in the leg... ...he continued laughingly; ...tever eloquence we had was of ...gainst corruption. ... ...n years, fighting fairly, we ...y out of the United States ...nd in this we were supported ...est people in the state. But ...legislature was gotten under ...ly Quay through corrupt ...and he was chosen senator for ...four years. ...ork of the ring-controlled as... ...ter Quay's election is now the ... comment throughout the entire country. To detail the iniquitous measures passed would be a long story. The so-called 'ripper' bills, passed to benefit Quay's friends and to injure his enemies, were the worst. A bill was passed taking home rule from cities of the second class—Pittsburg, Allegheny and Scranton. This law has been upheld by the state supreme court and now the mayors, called recorders, of these big cities are appointees of Governor Stone, all Quay's friends. The supreme court's decision gives the Pennsylvania legislature the power to make every city and town office in the state appointive.

"The street railway bills, passed for the benefit of the followers of the ring in Philadelphia and Pittsburg, were rushed through the assembly in a few days, and now the people of Philadelphia, usually slow to be angered, are rising in their might against their mayor, Quay's friend, for absolutely giving away valuable franchises to politicians. The tide seems to be turning, for if Philadelphia is aroused there should be no apathy in the rest of the state."

Mr. Fynn will remain in Manitou for about a week. He is one of a party of 15, including the members of his family, all from the Smoky City.

Traffic Manager Henry was at the depot to see how large the crowds were that went up the mountains and Chief Clerk MacWatters went up the line to see where the people were spending the day, to study the desires of the people and to report to the office in this city. In the afternoon it was evident that the cars on the tracks would not accommodate the people comfortably and General Manager Ridgway began rustling some more cars. He got them somewhere and when the down-train passed the Rosemont and St. Peters, crowds by there was a string of empties waiting on the "Y" above St. Peters to bring the people back from these intermediate points. "If there is equipment that can be had for money," said Mr. Ridgway at noon "these people shall be brought down to town and they shall have seats." The result was that the regular train from Cripple Creek came through without stops, having a good load when it left Cripple, and the people from the intermediate points were brought down in a second section that came into town about 20 minutes behind the regular.

The people appreciated the management of the Short Line business yesterday:

"The thing that I like about this road above all others that I have had occasion to observe," said a passenger yesterday, "is that it does not undertake to do more than is in its power. It plays safe on every proposition and it has never disappointed its patrons."

BUTTONHOLE INTERVIEWS

"Colorado Springs seems to be patriotic enough," said a visitor yesterday, "but it strikes me that the Stars and Stripes were not much in evidence today. I am from Philadelphia, where every holiday brings out millions of flags. The national colors were not displayed as conspicuously in this city today as they are in eastern cities. I was disappointed to notice that there was not a flag to be seen on the largest building in town, the Antlers hotel. I suppose it was because of the rush to have the hotel ready for guests."

George W. Jackson of Chicago, famous in Colorado for his connection with the construction of the Strickler tunnel for the city of Colorado Springs, was a visitor in the city yesterday. He goes to Denver this morning to testify in the hearing of the application for an injunction against the city of Colorado Springs by the Pike's Peak Power company and will return tonight to spend a day or two here before returning to Chicago.

Mr. Jackson has been connected with the institution of some of the largest mechanical enterprises that the middle west has had and is now engaged in a colossal undertaking in Chicago.

"I am putting under the streets of Chicago," said Mr. Jackson to a Gazette representative last night, "the large system of sub-ways that has been generally mentioned in engineering circles for some time. It is a system of sub-ways beneath all the streets of the business district of the city and is to accommodate wires, pipes, pneumatic tubes, etc., and an entirely new system of telephones."

THE AERIAL ATHLETE

A Career of Danger and Daring in the Circus—How Performers Begin

Turning from the workers to the careers of danger are strictly useful to mankind [illegible] Moffett [illegible] in the July St Nicholas [illegible] the brave men and boys who risk their lives to amuse their fellow men

What strange things one sees traveling with a circus [illegible] Every night there is a [illegible] trains to be loaded every morning a tented city to be built [illegible] for every body [illegible] performances Besides [illegible] Leapers getting ready [illegible] kings of the [illegible] sparkles Oh [illegible] when 5 o clock came and the concert was over and the big top with its spreading amphitheater and its four great center poles stood silent and empty That was the leisure hour the one hour in the day when a man could catch his breath

It was at this 5 o clock hour one day when I first saw little Nelson the boy trapeze performer and that picture remains among the pleasantest of my circus memories This sturdy little fellow was one of the circus children born in the sawdust brought up to regard lion cages as the proper background for a nursery [illegible] thinking of father and mother in connection with the flying bars and bareback feats It was Nelson s ambition to follow in his father s steps and become a great art[illegible] on the trapeze Indeed at this time he felt himself already an artist, and at the hour of rest would walk forth into the middle of the ring all alone and—with—the greatest—dignity—go through his practice He would not be treated as a child and scorned any suggestion that he go out and play [illegible] He had work to do Look here Do you know any man who can throw [illegible] prettier ro[illegible] of flip[illegible] [illegible] very with good [illegible] pride

Nelson [illegible] of the show [illegible] a child and [illegible] along with him [illegible] the [illegible] good behavior [illegible] the boy forth before [illegible] [illegible] figure [illegible] tights rose [illegible] father held anxiously

And [illegible] breath [illegible] Nelson [illegible] his knees in the [illegible] would suddenly pretend [illegible] fall and then catch the bar [illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] Don t you [illegible] business [illegible]

This boy possessed the two great requisites in a trapeze performer absolute fearlessness and a longing to perform in the air [illegible] differ from [illegible] it strong [illegible] born an acrobat not so much because his feats might not be learned by an ordinary [illegible] requisite courage but because the particular kind of courage needed to make an acrobat is not found in the ordinary man [illegible] arti[illegible] on the flying [illegible] and [illegible]

In illustration of this [illegible] three [illegible] Weltz [illegible] Ryan trapeze [illegible] Zorell [illegible] Nagel [illegible] first somersault [illegible] Nagel got the [illegible] days later he began performing [illegible] that was 10 years ago [illegible] missed a circus day

The act that has given these three their fame includes a swing [illegible] leap [illegible] enough until one learns the length and drop of that swing and how the leapers turn in the air and what men on [illegible] their bodies have as they shoot toward the man hanging for the catch from the last bar It is Weltzel who catches the other two He was under [illegible] the trapeze [illegible] three [illegible] while the [illegible] tricks of balancing is pretty [illegible] build [illegible] strong body And Weltzel needs all his strength when Danny springs from the pedestal over there at the [illegible] top [illegible] feet away and swinging through a half circle [illegible] feet across comes the last 16 feet flying free and turning [illegible] comes [illegible] all his brawny arms Weltzel would [illegible] the clutch of that hurling [illegible] were not the strain eased [illegible] of 14 [illegible] supports his bar cords And so etimes as the leapers catch the [illegible] full four feet and then as they snap off down to the net springs nine feet up so that Weltzel s head has many a time bumped on the top support.

The catcher man must hold himself ready for a dozen different leaps must watch for the safety clutch where the four hands grip first at the elbows then slide down the forearm to the wrists and hold there where the tight bound handkerchiefs [illegible] he must know how to sieze [illegible] the ankles as he shoots at him feet up after a backward double he must know [illegible] to land Danny when he comes turning swiftly with eyes blindfolded and body bound in a sack

All these feats are hard enough to do [illegible] still harder one might say is the mere starting to do them There are scores of acrobats [illegible] skilled in [illegible] and [illegible] who [illegible] not for their lives go up on the pedestal where Ryan and Zorelli make their springs [illegible] take the first [illegible] hanging from the trapeze Nothing else simply take the swing

How French Girls Are Educated

The children of the lower classes in the country as well as in town all go to public schools Little girls of the better class have an English or German nursemaid or a resident governess When they are sent to a boarding school they go to some convent but in Paris courses which leave the young girl most of the time at home are preferred The courses are weekly semiweekly or even daily classes The government schools have hitherto been attended mostly by the free thinking element Private schools are fast being transformed into day school Then there are private teachers for those arts called accomplishments which occupy a prominent place —(Th[illegible] Bentzon (Madame Blanc) in The Ladies Home Journal for July —

Good Advice to Girls Who Travel

The young girl who is traveling by herself should seek information from the train people rather than from her companions on the train No girl in traveling should make confidants of strangers of either sex disclose her name her destination or family affairs or make acquaintances on the road She may however show kind attention to another traveling with little children amuse a wearied little one and politely thank any one who does her an unobtrusive service —Margaret E Sangster in the Ladies Home Journal for July

DENVER MINING LETTER

Good Showing Made in the Wellington Company's President Claim --Notes From Boulder.

Special Correspondence.

Denver, July 4—It is exceedingly on... ... the interest that is being taken in mining throughout the live camps of the state. No greater sign of activity has been displayed in any section of our wonderful mining region than in Boulder county. Wall street is receiving marked attention from eastern capitalists because of the vigorous methods that are being employed in developing the properties of that camp and demonstrating to outsiders the importance of that place as a mining center. Manager George E. Brown of the ... Ham ... Mining company, who has recently returned from the east, says Boulder county and especially Wall Street is receiving marked attention from eastern investors ... mines ... a number of men from Providence, Boston, New York and Chicago to visit the district before investing elsewhere. Mr. Brown will resume work on the Little Giant by sinking the shaft another lift.

In running a crosscut at the ... foot level in the President shaft of the Wellington company a blind vein four feet wide was cut which runs well in gold. Extensive prospecting on this property indicates that the entire mountain is heavily mineralized and will develop into a valuable mine. On the strength of the excellent work being done on this property the manager, Mr. W. W. Degge, has moved into the large cottage just completed and will make his headquarters at the mine. Camp Wellington is a scene of great activity.

The B... and M... of Ward's coming mines shipped 1 0 tons of high grade ore this week. Its ore is very similar to that of the Wellington.

The following information regarding Wall Street mining operations was received Saturday just from a miner who ... resided in the camp for the past two years. He gave a very lucid and conservative statement of facts regarding the outlook and said in substance as follows: The little burg was never so lively as now. All over the Wood mountain and South Sugar Loaf men are prospecting and doing assessment work in large numbers while others ... ing out abandoned shafts and tunnels preparatory to working the property and putting them in condition ... legitimate operations on the market. There are several good mines that are regular producers and ... will be returning regular dividends if ... managed. The Wood Mountain company is doing considerable prospecting on its several claims outside of those that are already opened ... and producing ore. Grand schemes ... for the future ... it into ... will revolutionize mining by this progressive company and place it among the leading legitimate mining operators of Colorado. The improvement in the capacity of the mill and the discoveries of immense mineralized bodies by recent bores run into the sides of the levels have made it a necessity to increase the number of stamps to utilize the ore that the property will furnish. A large water power will be used to operate the ... compressor and mill, the pipes for conducting the water will be on the ground this week and will be placed as rapidly as possible. There are many other improvements the manager expects to make at an early date that will bring the cost of mining down to a minimum and the milling expense much below its present cost.

The consolidation of several important lode claims into a strong company is now in progress, if not already consummated. The promoters of the scheme are live energetic business men who have secured some of the best properties at Wall street and have presented them to a syndicate of capitalists for consideration. In a conversation with one of the important promoters on the possibility of such a deal being made he replied: "I have no doubt of it going through all right. The ground will be mined through a tunnel run on the trend of a vein and as each lode is encountered levels will be branched off on the vein. I would like to give fuller information but was requested not to give names until the deeds and other papers have been passed."

The Emancipation Western ... property at Sunshine yields good ore and I am informed the owner, F. J. Temple, has gone to Boston for the purpose of selling the property. About one year ago the papers gave extended notice of the sale of the Emancipation for $ 0,000 to a Boston company and a large payment had been made to Mr. Temple. The deal fell through for that time but from good authority it is learned that the owner's visit east is to make arrangements for the transfer of his property.

The most startlingly sensational report of rich ore comes from the manager of the old Golden Age mine at Jamestown, John Talbot, who brought down from the mine a piece of almost solid gold which was taken out by leasers from the 00 foot level. Such phenomenal discoveries of pure gold in the Golden Age are by no means of rare occurrence yet when miners encounter streaks of the ... stuff it gives them an impetus to work with greater determination to make a fortune and become retired mining kings. Some years ago during the administration of Mr. Pike, one of the principal owners of the Golden Age mine, pockets or vugs of almost pure gold specimens beautifully crystallized were opened and some portion of the find was placed in a cabinet in the Boulder National bank. It was an elegant collection of gold specimens estimated to be worth $10,000. Your correspondent was placed in charge of this collection and also ... of gold specimens from the Alamakee mine which were placed on exhibition in the Opera house during a visit of the editors from Texas and other southern points.

Silver ores from the famous Caribou and Poor Man mines and sulphides from Ward, tellurides from Gold Hill, Sunshine, Magnolia and Salina make the exhibit one of exquisite beauty and great intrinsic value and deeply impressed the visiting editors and their friends of the wonderful mineral resources of Colorado. The Golden Age has always been famous for free gold productions and has furnished wealth to many a poor miner who has leased a piece of ground in the mine.

Many of the telluride mines are great producers of enormously rich ore in limited quantities while the mass of the production is of ordinary quality that requires cheap treatment to make the mines paying propositions. Boulder county mines are looking prosperous and the industry has been greatly enhanced by the introduction of new blood and greater energy from outside capital and management.

IDAHO SPRINGS DOUBLES OUTPUT

New Prospectors at Work and Strikes Are Numerous--Newhouse Tunnel Being Driven Rapidly.

The milling works and ore buyers at Idaho Springs, says the Denver News, report a much heavier business for the month of June than the same month last year. The values per ton are also showing well and two of the heavy shippers are now sending smelting ore that will average over $100 per ton. However, some of a lower grade value has been shipped from other mines and this makes the average value of smelting ore from this section $40 per ton as furnished by the ore buyers. They deduct the smelting charge and freight which if added would make the gross value of the entire smelting product at $60 per ton. During June there was a record of 2 ... tons of smelting ore ... from the concentrates. This with the value of $ ... per ton made that product worth $170,000. As far as this ... treated at the various concentrating and amalgamating mills ... worth ... the ... total value of $ ... or a grand total of 21,000 tons of mineral worth $ ... This was an increase of almost 100 per cent over the same month of last year.

The upper end of the county is attracting attention. Its silver ... are being opened and new companies are putting money into the development. In the Argentine district the Rogers and Wilcox strikes have sent half hundred prospectors to that locality. At the head waters of Chicago creek the Big Five people have been doing some prospecting and Mr. Kennedy of that company has been showing a piece of quartz that is fully half free gold. The vein has not been found but should the prospectors discover the lead it will attract ... interest for that section.

... the divide over ... Gray ... counties ... work is being carried on at the ores are being brought over the divide by burro. In several cases the shipments have reached several hundred dollars per ton. In no case less than $ 0 per ton. If the section had a railroad it would come to the front. Tom Cunningham has a big strike of high grade ore but facts are meager because of the great distance and high altitude, the vein disclosed being at an altitude of over 12,000 feet and above timber line.

Some strikes may be expected in the tunnels during the coming month. The Aduddell, Frontenac and Kokomo vein has a record of producing over $3,000,000 worth of ore from the three mines. The vein was wide in some cases being 20 feet with an average width of about 15 feet. Three different companies own the vein near where it will be cut by the Newhouse tunnel. At the time the Kokomo and Aduddell mines were bought late last fall it was reported that the Newhouse tunnel would cut this vein in the Aduddell ground by the latter part of August. But the progress in the tunnel has been better than was expected and it is expected to be cut July 20. The tunnel is going ahead at the rate of about 200 feet per month. The Aduddell will be cut at a depth of 2,000 feet below the surface in the tunnel at about 1,600 feet or over two miles underground. It is expected to be the biggest strike ever made in any tunnel in either county. Several lodes are believed to come into the Aduddell. It will open up 2,000 feet of stoping ground and with the contracts that have been made drifting will start on the vein within 30 days after the strike. The Newhouse people are expecting great results from this strike and if it proves half as big as is now figured it will be the great producer and furnish more ore than all of the mines in both Clear Creek and Gilpin counties combined.

BUSY AROUND HILL CITY

Resumption of Work at the St. Elmo and Sunny Side Mines--Chicago Parties to Work Golden Slipper.

(Special Correspondence.)

Hill City, ... D., July 3. Ten men are at work at the old Grizzly Bear mine ... of this city, which has recently been purchased by Denver and Pennsylvania capitalists. There is reason to believe that the main ledge of ore which was lost several years ago has been encountered again and the report being circulated is to the effect that it is as rich as it was when it turned out $100 ore. The little stamp mill at the mine is to be repaired and set to going again and the mine will be ... a producer. This property is on the St. Elmo ledge on the north, there being a very strong mineralization for several miles. The old Golden Summit mine lies to the north of the Grizzly Bear and it too will be resurrected.

The St. Elmo Mining company which is now in strong condition is about to resume work at the St. Elmo mine, and there is little doubt but that the property will again be made a producer. A short time ago the property was under a working lease to the late Captain W. W. Marsh, of Omaha. He built a 10 stamp mill and worked out a very rich shoot of ore up to the line of the property joining the Clara Bell mine. At that point the shoot was taken up by Frank Hobart, owner of the Clara Bell and it was since developed into the bonanza that the Clara Bell shoot is. But it has recently been discovered that the St. Elmo people only worked out the upper shoot, there being in the Clara Bell mine a shoot of ore 20 feet below the upper one that is even richer than the St. Elmo ore body. This has not been worked out yet in the St. Elmo mine and it will be for this one that the company will first look.

The Gopher company has been working steadily north of this city on the Gopher mine, formerly the Lena, and good headway is being made with the shaft which is being put down on a strong ledge of free milling ore. The ore is very rich, so rich in fact that it is considered to be one of the greatest gold propositions in the southern hills. The theory that was held at the outset by the management that the several ledges of free milling ore that outcrop and that run parallel would eventually come together forming one large body of ore is proving to be true as the development work shows. This mine has the prospect of developing into a large producer, since taking all of the ledges of ore together at a depth of possibly 200 feet, a very wide ledge is formed. This company is a newspaper men's proposition, it being backed financially by prominent managers of some of the leading dailies of the east.

There is talk that the Sunnyside mine will be opened again for work. The property is owned by some of the stockholders of the Holy Terror company. There is a very rich ledge of free-milling ore but the water is very bothersome.

The Chicago parties who have a bond on the Golden Slipper mine east of this city will organize a company very soon and extensive development work will be carried on. A Tremain mill will be erected and it will be possible to do the development work with the proceeds from the mill. The ore in this mine averages about $ 0 per ton gold.

...ess and St. Paul are work... ... force and good returns are ... intelligent development ... has in the past produced ... some valuable ore and last season was ... particularly profitable one for the owners of this property.

The leasers of the American Belle ... taking some valuable ore and the indications are that the mine will during the present season be placed upon its former basis as a producer. The American Belle is one of the old time and famous producers of this section and its return to prosperity will be hailed with delight by the mining men of the San Juan.

The Governor is working with an increased force and a most flattering outlook is the reward of the development work lately prosecuted. Stoping is being done along with the development at the breast of the tunnel.

Preparations are under way for a new compressor plant which will operate three machine drills and the output will be thus greatly increased. A new boarding house is under way and all things are looking toward an active summer in the region of that great property. The average width of the vein is three and one-half feet, running high in gray copper and ruby silver. At present there appears to be two veins coming together in the breast of the tunnel each being about 18 inches in width. In one of these there is a six-inch streak of ore that will average 1,000 ounces in silver to the ton. The greater quantity of the ore is a fine milling class. The owners will make a shipment of first-class ore in a short time as a great quantity has been stripped and will be mined immediately.

A rich strike has been made on the Esmeralda in Minnie gulch. At the 350 point in its lower tunnel this week a vein of two inches of petzite was encountered. The assay shows a return of 30 ounces in gold and 2,500 ounces in silver per ton. The Helbler Bros. and other owners of the Governor are preparing to equip the mine with new and modern machinery thereby increasing the output to twice the present workings. Two cars were shipped out last week and a large quantity of high grade ore still remains in the bins. This mine is sure to become one of the richest paying properties in the Sneffels district. The vein continues three feet in width and some assays made recently show 400 ounces in gold to the ton.—(Ouray Herald.

In the palmy days of 1886 the Frederick, in Burns' gulch, three miles north of Eureka, was a large shipper of ores running as high as $1,650 per car. Litigation closed the property until recently when the Eureka Exploration company took the mine under lease and bond. A drift recently started opened a rich body of ore running as high as $1,400 to the car. The pay streak is so rich that a ton of high-grade ore is secured from each four feet of drift.

The Ouray Merchant's Mining company has been incorporated with a capital of $100,000. C. A. Armstrong, C. J. Sigfrid and E. H. Powell are the incorporators. Stock is quoted at $1.00 par, and none will be offered for sale at any price. The company will push the development of its properties in Canon creek, opposite the Mineral farm. The properties are already under extensive development and the main tunnel is within 50 to 60 feet of the richest veins traversing that section.—(Ouray Plaindealer.

BEYOND DOUBT.

These Facts Must Convince Every Colorado Springs Reader.

That which follows is the experience of a resident of Colorado Springs. Incredulity cannot exist about the statement because it can easily be investigated.

Mr. J. W. Brauer of 222 Willamette ave., says: "After tinkering with sure cures for kidney trouble, after taking medicines from doctors for my kidneys and after being compelled to give up a good business because I could not stand the work on the wagon, when Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Jones & Wellington's drug store, 109 N. Tejon st., cured me I am only too pleased to let the people of Colorado Springs who suffer with kidney complaint and its companion, backache know of a remedy upon which they can depend."

Another Excursion To Buffalo Thro' the Lakes.

The success of the Burlington's first personally conducted excursion to the Panamerican exposition by water from Chicago encourages us to organize another.

The date which has been selected is Thursday, July 18. Sleepers for Chicago will leave Denver at 10 p. m. that day. Twenty-six state rooms aboard the "North Land," sailing from Chicago at 2:30 p. m., July 20, and eight aboard the "Manitou," sailing at 5 p. m., same day have been reserved. These are the finest vessels on inland waters. Rates vary from $52.50 to $54.50 for the round trip. Party will be in charge, as far as Chicago, of an experienced man who will relieve members of all bother about baggage, etc.

The first excursion left Denver last Thursday and its members were enthusiastic in commending the perfection of the arrangements for their comfort. The second excursion promises to be even more successful than the first. Folders giving details will be ready in a few days. Meanwhile, call or write and obtain information. G. W. Vallery, general agent, Burlington route, 1039 17th street, Denver, Colo.

CALIFORNIA SOUTH OF TEHACHAPEI tells all about the charms of that remarkably favored semi-tropic garden spot, Southern California.

A HANDSOME MAP OF CALIFORNIA, complete in detail, reliable, skillfully indexed, and full of information about the state's resources. It is the only publication of its kind conveniently folded for pocket use.

SUMMER OUTINGS is a thirty-two-page folder devoted to the camping retreats in the Shasta Region and Santa Cruz mountains. It appeals more directly to that large and growing class of recreation seekers who prefer this popular form of outing.

PACIFIC GROVE is the Chautauqua of the west, and this folder not only describes the pretty place itself, but gives a programme of the religious and educational meetings, conventions, schools, etc., to be held there this summer.

Other publications are Lake Tahoe, Geysers and Lake County, Yosemite, Hotel del Monte, Castle Crags, each brimful of information about the places named and printed in the highest style of the art.

A variety of California literature attractively illustrated, describing its resources, famous resorts and numerous wonders, also maps and folders showing routes, through trains, and other valuable information, may be obtained by addressing William K. McAllister, general agent Southern Pacific company, 1112 Seventeenth street, Denver, Colo.

Investigate All Things and Hold Fast to that Which Is GOOD

Had Caesar read the papers which he carelessly thrust into his pocket when he entered the senate chamber, he would have been spared an untimely grave and Rome might have risen to greater grandeur than ever before. The successful man is he who investigates and who keeps up with and ahead of times. The TRAVELER who has tested and investigated the facilities of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y knows that they keep up with the times and ahead of their competitors. All the latest modern conveniences for speed, comfort and safety are in use on this line. The traveler eastbound, whether on business or pleasure bent, will do well to investigate before the purchase of his tickets is made and find out which is the shortest and best line between Omaha and Chicago, running solid vestibuled, electric lighted trains from the Union Depot in Omaha and landing passengers in the Union Depot, Chicago, in the very heart of the Windy City. Investigate our fast train schedule and then see that your tickets read via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y from Omaha and you will get that which is GOOD.

Health Rules for Summer.

In any valuable advice about the treatment of oneself in summer, the "don'ts" must largely prevail. During the hot months, the gospel of abstinence should be most strenuously and continuously taught, and accepted, or illness is the result.

First, don't entirely shut out the sunlight because it makes the room somewhat warmer or fades the carpet. Life is more than a little extra discomfort or the brightness of carpets; and, when you shut out the sun, you shut out the great vitalizer and germ destroyer. You need not, of course, have the sun streaming in all day, but let it come in freely for an hour or two in the morning.

Use as little gas as possible for lighting purposes. It is estimated that one gas jet consumes as much oxygen as six people, and adds to the heat. A lamp makes far less heat, but much more than an electric light, which uses none of the room's oxygen. Luckily, the hours of summer daylight are so long that one usually has all the time he needs to work or read, before the darkness comes, and requires little artificial light.

Don't neglect your sleeping room. This is a most important don't. Be sure that, during the hour when the sunlight is being admitted, the bedclothes have been removed and spread out so that they, as well as the bed, will become thoroughly aired. Do not sleep in a draught.

But, although you should not sleep in a draught, the air should circulate freely through the room. Many people close their windows at night, because they are "afraid of the night air." Night air cannot, in the absence of the sun, be as vitalizing as dry air, but it is a thousand times less dangerous than the air which, in a closed room, becomes heavy and poisonous from the exhalations from both body and lungs.

Don't drink too much ice water. This is a dangerous practice. Ice water allays thirst for a few minutes without quenching it. For this reason, one who is addicted to ice water usually drinks enough to cause a full and bloated feeling, and to stop digestion by unduly cooling the stomach. Lemonade made from clear, cool—not ice cold—water, is the most refreshing and satisfying drink for summer.

Let your heartiest meal be at night, or whenever your work for the day is over. Fruit, toast, soft-boiled eggs and oatmeal make a good breakfast. Where the intermission between hours of labor is short, no heavy food should be taken into the stomach. Hundreds of people who eat heartily and return to work almost immediately afterwards have dyspepsia.

Don't let the mind get into a ferment. Simply drop from it everything that depresses or worries. You will find that, with determination and practice, this can be done. Put any worrying thing you cannot help away from you. This course is absolutely necessary for those who would have good health, which simply means harmony.—Dr. J. Livingston in July Success.

Keep Growing.

Do not stop studying just because you have been graduated. Do not lay out so much work for yourself—as most graduates do—that you cannot complete any of it, but resolutely determine, at the very outset, that you will devote at least a few minutes a day to self-improvement. Do not let a day pass without at least a glimpse at a good book, free to treasure upon bit of poetry, a helpful maxim or motto, a little history, or something else which will exercise the mind so that it will not stagnate.

Whatever you do, determine that you will keep out of ruts. You have plenty of examples about you, of men and women who have been graduated with as much determination, perhaps, to keep up their studies, as you have, and yet have dropped into the worst kind of ruts, letting all the beauty and poetry die out of their lives.

Many great men, like Darwin, have been suddenly surprised, in their old age, to find that their passionate love for poetry, for music, and for works of art, has practically disappeared for lack of exercise.

Whatever may be your vocation in life, resolve that you will not get into a rut; that you will keep growing; that, when you retire from the active duties of life, you will have something to retire to, and not feel utterly lost and alone in the world when your regular occupation is gone.—Orison Swett Marden, in July Success.

Be Glad of Another's Success.

Teach yourself early in life to be glad of another's success, sorry for another's failure. The moment your entertain the opposite feeling, you invite ultimate disaster to your life. The thoughts you send forth will come to you as events, finally. Thought is the main road to happiness. As you think, so shall your life be. Circumstance and environment are changed by intense thought-action. Happiness comes mainly from neither. Every day we hear and read of successful men and women, judged from the worldly standpoint, who are miserable and unhappy. The suicide of the rich and prosperous is too common. Nevertheless, prosperity, friendship, success, and best of all, love, add greatly to the happiness of a happy mind.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in July Success.
